FUND A FUTURE

This year, over 5,000 children will be homeless in Indianapolis.

Children experiencing homelessness change schools an average of 3 times while homeless, needing 4 to 6 months each time to recover academically. School on Wheels provides one-on-one tutoring and academic intervention programs to Indianapolis children in grades K-12. We equip these children with the educational tools necessary to achieve academic success and help them realize the vital role education can play in breaking the cycle of homelessness.

Providing homeless children with skills and confidence starts with financial support. Please support one year of tutoring for a child experiencing homelessness by donating to the Fund a Future campaign.

You can make a difference in a child's life today!

The Fund a Future Campaign supports children like Cara.

After Cara's family lost their home last school year, they began living in a local shelter and working with School on Wheels. This summer, Cara's parents worked with our staff to enroll her in the school that was the right fit for her and arrange transportation. Our tutors are at the shelter to meet Cara after school to help with her homework.

Cara is back in school in a classroom that's right for her and is getting the tutoring support she needs, but we don't stop at tutoring. Now we're building educational plans and goals for Cara with the input of her parents and teachers. We're also helping prepare her four-year-old sister Angel for school. From skill-building to Pre-K enrollment, we're focused on developing a strong educational foundation at any age. Each year we serve hundreds of children just like Cara and Angel.

Homelessness can happen at any point in a child's life. Our programs meet children and their families wherever they are in their educational journey and help students meet critical academic milestones so they can achieve the same success as their stably housed peers.

Your $1,000 tax-deductible contribution helps us provide academic intervention services to transform the lives of children just like Angel and Cara.

Inspire Learning • Empower Kids • End Homelessness

Companies and individuals who choose to support School on Wheels and the Fund a Future campaign with a gift of $1,000 will be featured in an Indianapolis Business Journal ad that highlights School on Wheels and its mission to educate homeless students.

Education is the key to a strong community and individual success. Providing children experiencing homelessness with the skills and confidence they need starts with financial support. Thank you to our generous Fund a Future partners who are investing in our community by supporting tutoring and educational advocacy for school aged children experiencing homelessness!
